ST770 Anglican Way of Theology
Course Syllabus—short form—Fall Semester 2020
(full syllabus will be provided on the first day of class)
Rev. Dr. Joel Scandrett – jscandrett@tsm.edu

I. Course description

This course will survey the core theological commitments and concerns that have characterized the Anglican tradition from the Reformation to the present. It will engage the work of theologians from the Evangelical, Anglo-Catholic, and Broad Church traditions, and will include discussion of Anglican identity today.

II. Required course texts

▪ All other readings will be provided on Google Classroom.

III. Course design

This course will consist of a combination of lectures, student seminar presentations, class discussion. Students will present four short seminar papers at points throughout the term, and write a research paper due at the end of term.

IV. Course grading

A combination of classroom participation (10%), four seminar presentations (15% each), and the research paper (30%) will be the basis for the course grade.